An informal resolution wes then passed, recommending the committee to visit and examine as many of the district schools of the county as circumstances will permit, with the view to report their condition to the Institute. Having directed the Secretary to prepare resolutions for publication, defining more particularly its sentiments, position, and action, the meeting adjourned sine

Resolved, That, under a free government, the the most important object of popular action, is, to make the principle of intelligence general in the mass, and to elevate it as knowledge increases.

Resolved, That the accomplishment of this great object among us, as a community, mainly devolves upon our common schools; that while the development of the faculties of the human understanding, or the cultivation of mind, is the proper object of all schools and systems of instruction, the primary schools may justly be regarded as the more influential, because far the more numerous

Resolved, That the teachers of our schools ought, therefore, to cultivate in themselves, to an eminent and characteristic degree, those qualities and principles of knowledge, which, as the moulders of the American mind, it is so essential the latter

Resolved, That the position of a teacher is one which requires the constant analysis of the subject of his teaching; and that to do this, he must understand not merely its results, but all the connections, dependencies, and relations by which those results are obtained.

Resolved, That teachers should not only have a thorough knowledge of the subject-matter to be taught, but should acquaint themselves with, that they may practice, the best or most approved methods of instruction—such indeed, as experience

Resolved, That, as Teachers' Institutes are specially designed and admirably adapted to impart ther branch of the profession, to perferm such operations this kind of knowledge, they constitute an important auxiliary to the promotion of general intelligence, and as such will ever receive the commen-ner as can be done by any Dentist in the county.

DR HALSEY'S FOREST WINE!

The discovery of the Ferest Wine is the greatest blessin, of the age. Put up en quart bottles, a single bottle of which does more good, and goes farther in the curv of disease than ten bottles of any Sarsaparilla in use, and warranted to cure withfect.

The method by which all Sarsaparillas and other sin ilar medicines are prepared, is by boiling the roots of plants to obtain the extracts. Their medicinal virtues are thus principally evaporated and destroyed.

It is not to be wondered at then, that ten and eve it is not to be wondered at then. that ten and even twenty bottles of these Sarsaparillas are sometimes to-ken without any perceptible benefit. Not so with the Forest Wine. By the invention of a wonderful chemical aparstus, a perfect wine is produced without heating retaining at the same time, all the primitive healing properties of the rare medical plants of which it is composed, thus rendering the Forest Wine the most efficient medicine the world ever pseduced, at the same time the most

agreeable. NER VOUS DISORDERS ARR VOUS DISORDERS
